Namibia's fuel subsidies drain reserves to nearly half. Namibia's efforts to cushion consumers against rising fuel costs have depleted the National Energy Fund's (NEF) reserves to N$416 million, just over half the N$800 million buffer required to sustain fuel price subsidies for at least three months. Minister of Industries, Mines and Energy Modestus Amutse said the fund has been under severe financial pressure since April and May 2026, with rising international oil prices, shipping costs and a weaker Namibia Dollar forcing the government to absorb substantial fuel costs to protect consumers. The financial strain has prompted the government to increase petrol prices by N$2 per litre and diesel prices by N$3 per litre, effective 4 November 2026, as it moves to prevent the fund from running out of money. – Mining & Energy

SOE debt rises by N$469m to N$11.12 billion. Namibia's state-owned enterprises (SOEs) recorded a N$469 million increase in combined debt during the first half of 2026, bringing their total outstanding debt to N$11.12 billion by the end of June, with the bulk of the debt owed to foreign creditors. According to the October 2026 Namibia Financial Stability Report, published by the Bank of Namibia (BoN) and the Namibia Financial Institutions Supervisory Authority (NAMFISA), SOE debt increased from N$10.65 billion at the end of December 2025, representing a 4.4% increase over six months. – The Brief

ACC investigates TransNamib property deals. The Anti-Corruption Commission (ACC) is investigating allegations of corruption, maladministration at TransNamib, including in the leasing and sale of the railway operator's properties. ACC director general Bryan Eiseb confirmed that TransNamib had referred the matter to the commission for consideration. "Our investigation remains at an early stage," Eiseb said, adding that the Commission was unable to disclose further regarding the specific allegations under investigation to maintain objectivity and integrity. Namibian Sun understands that the investigation focuses on property transactions involving TransNamib executives, including property executive Alynsia Platt and former human capital executive Webster Gonzo, who was dismissed last month. – The Namibian

Namra to slap customs offenders with N$20 000. Traders, importers and exporters could face fixed customs penalties of up to N$20 000 for certain offences under a new penalty system introduced by the Namibia Revenue Agency. The system includes fixed penalty amounts of N$2 000, N$8 000 and N$20 000, depending on the offence. Other penalties are calculated as a percentage of the customs duty or value of goods.
Namibia Revenue Agency (Namra) spokesperson Steven Ndorokaze announced the implementation of the customs administrative penalty framework yesterday. "The framework provides a standardised and nationally consistent basis for administering identified customs contraventions under Section 101 of the customs and excise act," he said. – The Namibian

SA Economic News

South African businesses see 'minimal' impact of AGOA exclusion. The Trump administration's decision to exclude South Africa from the African Growth and Opportunity Act will have a "minimal impact" on the economy as a whole, according to business leaders and economists. It will, however, likely result in some job losses in the agriculture and automotive industries. "While only about 10% of South Africa's exports to the US are currently subject to AGOA, South Africa's exit still puts thousands of jobs at risk in these sectors," Raymond Parsons, an economics professor at North West University's Business School, said on Tuesday, a day after the decision was announced. Pretoria played down the likely impact of the exit, noting that the scale of trade directly affected by AGOA was small. South Africa's financial markets took the news in their stride.

Growthpoint extends green power to Standard Bank branches. Standard Bank is the latest major financial institution to join Growthpoint Properties' renewable energy certificate programme, using certified green energy to reduce emissions at 21 branches. Standard Bank already reduces demand through LED lighting installations, energy-efficient equipment and optimised operational control enabled through smart meters. However, Scope 2 emissions, which stem from purchased electricity from the fossil-fuelled grid, are typically the hardest for businesses to reduce in multi-tenanted leased premises without active support from the landlord. – Moneyweb

Merafe ferrochrome hits 61 000t year-to-date mark as smelter ramp-up proceeds. The Johannesburg Stock Exchange-listed Merafe's attributable ferrochrome production from the Glencore Merafe Chrome Venture of 61 000t was 46% down in the nine months ended September 30 compared with the corresponding nine months of 2025. The decline in production was primarily attributable to the suspension of production at the venture's Boshoek smelter from May 1 last year and at Wonderkop smelter from May 31 last year, Merafe outlined in a release to Mining Weekly. – Mining Weekly

New-vehicle demand buoys Motus, but market remains challenging. Motus Holdings, Southern Africa's largest automotive group, expects its first-half revenue to be broadly in line with the prior comparative period. Speaking at the group's AGM on Monday, CEO Ockert Janse van Rensburg told shareholders said the operating environment has been characterised by economic uncertainty and structural change within the automotive industry. The group, which operates as an integrated, non-manufacturing provider of vehicle products, services, and mobility solutions, benefited from new-vehicle demand in South Africa and the UK, which supported volume growth, while the continued shift towards Chinese brands and new energy vehicles further reshaped the automotive industry. – Business Day

Shoprite CEO pay plan meets resistance from proxy advisors. Investors in South African equities face an early test of their new power to cast binding votes over pay when Shoprite Holdings asks shareholders to approve another multimillion-rand incentive plan for its chief executive officer. The world's two biggest shareholder proxy advisor services, Institutional Shareholder Services and Glass Lewis & Co, are urging investors in Africa's biggest supermarket retailer to reject the new plan for CEO Pieter Engelbrecht at its November 6 annual general meeting, questioning the repeated use of exceptional awards on top of Shoprite's existing incentive programs. And some of North America's biggest investors have said they will take their advice. – Moneyweb

Tanzania to review spending plans following MPs' advice. The government will review its medium-term planning and budget guidelines for 2026/27 to 2028/29 to incorporate recommendations from Members of Parliament, with emphasis on controlling public expenditure, clearing outstanding debts and improving the implementation of development projects. Finance Minister Ambassador Khamis Mussa Omar made the commitment in Parliament on Tuesday, 03 November 2026, while concluding debate on the proposed guidelines. He said the government would assess recommendations from the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Budget and lawmakers before developing implementation strategies.
